SUBJECT: Protective Intelligence Advisory #11-33
Anti-Capitalism Protests at Wall Street and Major US Cities

In July 2011, Canadian activist group Adbusters encouraged viewers of their website to protest against corporate influence and address those responsible for the global banking industry crisis.

The movement has been supported by demonstrators in many other major U.S. cities including Washington, DC. Demonstrators have protested in nearly every state in America. Open source reporting estimated the largest protests in the U.S. were in Boston (10,000 participants); Washington, DC (3,000); Chicago (8,000); New York City (15,000); Seattle (5,000); and Burlington, Vermont (1,000).

Local and national politicians have been pressured by some in the media to act for or against the movement; however, most have avoided making a decisive move against the protestors. The potential shutdown of Occupy DC may be the most difficult. The National Park Service has provided extensions to the permits to protest at Freedom Plaza and McPherson Square through January 2012. Additionally, as many as six DC city council members have stated they believe the protestors should be allowed to stay. If other Occupy protests are shut down, they may travel and dramatically increase the demonstrations in Washington, DC. Freedom Plaza and McPherson Square could quickly become the epicenter of the Occupy Movement.

As our protectees continue to speak about the economy, wars in Iran and Afghanistan, and healthcare, demonstrators are likely to feel they have a global stage to protest in furtherance of their message. The primary themes of the Occupy Movement are likely to continue through the 2012 U.S. presidential campaign and associated demonstrations may occur at protected sites.

Open source information indicated Occupy Movement demonstrators, specifically Students for a Democratic Society, are planning action at high-profile events, such as G8/NATO in Chicago, Illinois and the Republican National Convention and Democratic National Convention. Such information has been disseminated through law enforcement entities.

#OCCUPY WALLSTREET, U.S. DAY OF RAGE 17 SEPTEMBER 2011: On 5 August 2011, information was posted on several non-jihadist websites [such as the blogspot for 'Anonymous'] and various social networking sites calling for a 'Day of Rage' in the U.S. The campaign is being called #OccupyWallStreet and organizers have stated: "we want to see 20,000 people flood into lower Manhattan, set up tents, kitchens, peaceful barricades and occupy Wall Street for a few months. Once there, we shall incessantly repeat our one simple demand until Barack Obama capitulates". In response to news of the U.S. Day of Rage, a member of the Shumukh al-Islam forum is encouraging Muslims to participate in the campaign through social networking sites. As an example, he describes the "effectiveness [of the jihadists campaign] on twitter for invigorating the [recent] uprisings in England". He advises that anyone who has knowledge of the English language and Twitter must participate in order to take control over Wall Street.

The author indicates that the #OccupyWallStreet campaign has been joined by youth in Oklahoma and Hawaii and he instructs the jihadists to "support and incite them and give them backing, BUT DO NOT REVEAL THAT YOU ARE MUSLIMS". Additionally, he states that from his discussions with them he has discovered that they are sympathetic to Islam; however, "we must conclude our talk with them by showing our support to work towards fixing America's systems". The author advises that their main objective in supporting this campaign is to exploit the actions of others by "inciting demonstrations that will create losses in the millions to the U.S. government and to detract attention away from our jihadists inside America and to facilitate their movement".

He ends his article with the following request: "I ask of Shumukh al-Islam some youth from the network along with the creation of a special forum so they can work within in it, that way they are not working in the open so America can't quell or retaliate against the demonstrations".

US Day of Rage/ #OccupyWallSt

Groups including "Anonymous" and "Adbusters" organized a US Day of Rage to "occupy" Wall Street in protest of government corruption. Flyers, which circulated online and in person, called for people to "flood into lower Manhattan, set up beds, kitchens, peaceful barricades and occupy Wall Street for a few months." They compared their cause to protestors in Egypt, Greece, Spain, and Iceland. The groups used social media, such as Facebook, Twitter, and Livestream to publicize the event and give live updates. On 9/17/11, approximately 200 protestors arrived in the Wall Street area. NYPD monitored them and prevented them from setting up permanent structures. They marched peacefully in the Wall Street/Bowling Green area and no incidents occurred.

Good Morning,

Please find the DTD trip briefing for POTUS to Honolulu for the APEC summit attached.

Also, a little background information on the "Occupy" protestors:

The protestors identified themselves as the "99ers" or "99 percentors" and believe 99 percent of Americans share the same amount of wealth as the top 1 percent. Although many other interests are represented at the sites, the Occupy Movement intends to address the perceived disparity in the nation's wealth through nonviolent protest. Some of the protestors donned Guy Fawkes mask (see the poster above), in homage to "V is for Vendetta," a movie about political protest against a totalitarian regime. The movie referenced Fawkes, the English political figure involved in a failed assassination plot of the King of England in 1604.

The Occupy movement has a small presence in Cleveland, OH. Open sources revealed on 05/02/12, five men involved in Occupy Cleveland stand accused of plotting to blow up a bridge over Cuyahoga Valley National Park in Sagamore Hills. The organization itself has not been implicated, but the arrests prompted organizers to cancel their May Day protest and instead spend the day distancing themselves from what they characterized as a fringe element. (These five men are "self-described anarchists.")

Open source also revealed on 03/05/12 five members of Occupy Cleveland were arrested Monday after they protested property foreclosures by interrupting a sheriff's sale. The group is known to protest at Public Square in downtown Cleveland.

- Various Occupy groups, to include Occupy Charlotte and Occupy the DNC, are coordinating and operating under one united titled called March on Wall Street South. There are various groups embedded within the Occupy movement and anarchists are expected to use Occupy as a way to conceal their identities.
- Although official protest routes and free speech zones have been designated by the City of Charlotte, users of social media, and in particular March on Wall Street South, have shown resentment for the containment of demonstration activity and have stressed their free speech cannot be limited by location. 2012 NATO DEMOS

Please note the following regarding the demonstrations in Chicago surrounding the NATO summit:

- The Occupy Movement is claiming association with the following demonstrations: the People's Summit, the Foreclosure Demonstration, the Environmental Demonstration, the National Nurses United Demonstration, and the Boeing Demonstration, as delineated below. However, those demonstrations are not permitted under the specific name "Occupy."
 - There is only one demonstration group to date that has a public association to the Occupy Chicago movement. This demonstration has two different marches and goes by the name the "Coalition Against NATO/G8" or "CANG8."
 - The Occupy group here in Chicago is concerned about their movement and are trying to disassociate themselves with anarchist groups like the Black Bloc, who promote anarchy and violence – two things the occupy movement does not support. However, anarchist groups use the Occupy name as cover for their activities.
 - There is nothing further that has been officially disseminated by any intel subcommittee member regarding the "Occupy" movement.

In December 2011, police in Des Moines, Iowa arrested three members of the Occupy movement outside of Rick Santorum's campaign office. The individuals were part of a larger group who visited several Republican candidate campaign offices the same day where additional arrests were made by local police.

In February 2012, members of the Occupy movement interrupted Rick Santorum's campaign event in Tacoma, Washington. After an altercation in the crowd, local police arrested two individuals.

- (U) The Occupy movements have been established all over the country. Occupy Wall Street (OWS) is a people-powered movement that began on September 17, 2011 in Liberty Square in Manhattan's Financial District, and has spread to over 100 cities in the United States and actions in over 1,500 cities globally. OWS is fighting back against the corrosive power of major banks and multinational corporations over the democratic process, and the role of Wall Street in creating an economic collapse that has caused the greatest recession in generations. The movement is inspired by popular uprisings in Egypt and Tunisia, and aims to fight back against the richest 1% of people that are writing the rules of an unfair global economy that is foreclosing on our future.

Since 09/24/11, Occupy Chicago has peacefully protested and demonstrated economic inequality, corporate greed and the influence of corporations. The protests began in solidarity with the Occupy Wall Street protests in New York. On 10/10/11, protesters from Occupy Chicago joined with members of the "Stand Up Chicago" coalition and marched through downtown Chicago, with approximately 3,000 protesters. Occupy Chicago has been consistently occupying Chicago's financial district and lacks a permanent encampment.
